

Reply to "Introducing International Journal of Anatomical Variations"

Published online January 7th, 2009 © <http://www.ijav.org>

Bhagath Kumar POTU <sup>[1]†</sup>
Thejodhar PULAKUNTA <sup>[2]</sup>

Department of Anatomy, Kasturba Medical College, Manipal University, Manipal,
Karnataka, INDIA [1], Department of Anatomical Sciences, St. Matthew's
University School of Medicine, Grand Cayman Islands, BWI [2].

† Bhagath Kumar Potu, MSc
Department of Anatomy,
Kasturba Medical College,
Manipal University
Manipal – 576104, Karnataka State, INDIA.
☎ +91 820 2922327
✉ +91 820 2922397
✉ potu\_kumar2000@yahoo.co.in

Received September 17th, 2008; accepted December 28th, 2008

To the Editor, International Journal of Anatomical Variations:

Please accept my heartiest congratulations on your recent opening of International Journal of Anatomical Variations Journal. I have already gone through the articles of first volume. It was surprised to read some of the unique variations published in it. Reading of these variations by vascular surgeons and angiologist will certainly boost their knowledge for better diagnosis and I hope you will continue publishing these types of rare variations. It would be great, if you encourage authors to submit research related articles. It is obvious that you have a wide-open future ahead of you. © IJAV. 2009; 2: 1.